

Unlicensed outdoor use of 3.6 GHz spectrum is necessary to allow WISPs to provide reliable, interference-free service to rural and urban end-users. I propose that these frequencies be allocated for outdoor wireless use only to minimize interference and to allow the delivery of reliable broadband wireless service.